1. Context:

Mexico Core owns the mass-market value proposition as Nubank transitions into a licensed bank, the country's yield strategy, and mass-market pricing.

This role sits at the intersection of product, pricing, and cross-functional alignment, coordinating closely with the Credit Card and Account teams without direct authority over them.

To assess your strategic thinking, leadership approach, and technical depth, we invite you to prepare a business case presentation addressing the topics below.

2. Topics to Cover

2.1 Core Value Proposition, Payroll & Pricing Rigor

Questions to answer:

1. How would you define Nubank's core value proposition and mass-market bundles strategy for Mexico, and how would you sequence that as Nubank transitions into a licensed bank?
2. Strategy: Walk us through the product vision, sequencing and rationale? Limit to 24 months.
3. Pricing: Walk us through a concrete framework for Mexico's yield strategy and mass-market pricing, including the actual trade-offs and data you'd use to make a pricing decision, not just the strategic principles behind it.

4. Product: Let's choose a specific product. Walk us through the value proposition and the plan to win.
5. Team org: How would you build a team to ship this plan? What are the key org design decisions you would make?

2.2 Cross-Functional Alignment Without Authority

Questions to answer:

1. Imagine the Credit Card team's roadmap creates friction with a mass-market bundle you need to ship on a tight regulatory timeline. How would you drive alignment with Credit Card, Account (GBA), and global stakeholders, without formal authority over any of them?

2.3 Responsible AI & Personalization

Questions to answer:

1. How would you use data and AI to inform pricing and personalization decisions for the mass-market segment, and what's your approach to using AI responsibly in that context (e.g., avoiding biased or predatory pricing outcomes for a mass-market, price-sensitive customer base)?

2.4 Prioritization & Global Alignment

Questions to answer:

1. Given everything above, what would be your top 3 priorities for your first 6 months, and how would you sequence them? As part of that, how would you represent Mexico's needs in global product conversations when local priorities don't naturally align with the global roadmap?

*****

We are looking to understand not only what you would do, but how you think, prioritize, and build alignment across teams and geographies that don't report to you. "Think outside the box"!
